DUKE SOFTWARE RESEARCH LICENSE AGREEMENT

Duke University (hereinafter "Duke") has developed certain software source and/or object code and associated documentation known as Optical coherence refraction tomography (OCRT) for isotropically resolved crosssectional imaging (hereinafter "the Software Package") which it wants to make available without charge to anyone for internal academic, research, and other non-commercial uses. If you wish to distribute or make any commercial use of the software, you may purchase a license to do so from Duke. Commercial license requests should be directed to the Duke Office of Licensing & Ventures (olvquestions@duke.edu).

Duke makes the accompanying software code and any documentation available to you only under the terms of this Duke Software Research License Agreement (this "Agreement"). By clicking the "ACCEPT" button, downloading, installing, obtaining, using, or otherwise accessing the code and/or documentation, you consent to be bound by this Agreement. The terms and conditions in this Agreement not only apply to the software code made available by Duke, but also to any improvements to, or derivative works of, that software code made by you, the Licensee and to any object code compiled from such source code and improvements or derivative works thereof.

1. DEFINITIONS

1.1 "Commercial Use" shall mean use of the Software Package by Licensee for direct or indirect financial, commercial or strategic gain or advantage, including without limitation: (a) bundling or integrating the Software with any hardware product or another software product for transfer, sale or license to a third party (even if distributing the Software on separate media and not charging for the Software); (b) Software being delivered or made available to customers, in whole or in part, with hardware, device or another software product purchased by the customer, on all current and future delivery methods, mediums and platforms, now known or later developed, including, but not limited to, as hosted application, cloud based application or service, tablet or mobile application, or by means of electronic download; or (c) use in connection with the performance of services for which Licensee is compensated.

1.2 "Derivatives" means any improvements to, or other derivative works of, the Software Package, in whole or in part, made by Licensee.

1.3 "Documentation" shall mean all manuals, user documentation, and other materials pertaining to the Software that are made available to Licensee in connection with the Software Package.

1.4 "Licensor" shall mean Duke.

1.5 "Licensee" shall mean the person or entity that has agreed to the terms hereof and is exercising rights granted hereunder.

1.6　"Open Source Software" or "Open Source" means any software program in which the Source Code is available to the general public under a license approved by the Open Source Initiative ("Open Source License(s)") to copy, distribute, or modify the source code, and publicly distribute Derivatives based on the Source Code.

1.7　"Software" shall mean all computer program(s) included in the Software Package made available under this Agreement, including both source code and object code, any error corrections, bug fixes, patches, updates or other modifications that Licensor may in its sole discretion make available to Licensee from time to time, and any object code compiled from such source code.

2.　GRANT OF RIGHTS

2.1　Licensor hereby grants to Licensee a royalty-free, nontransferable, nonexclusive license to use the Software Package for internal academic, research, and other non-commercial uses under the terms and conditions set out in this Agreement.

3.　RESTRICTIONS; COVENANTS

3.1　Licensee agrees not to: (a) distribute, sub-license or otherwise transfer copies or rights to the Software Package (or any portion thereof); (b) copy the Software Package other than for archival and backup purposes; or (c) remove any product identification, copyright, proprietary notices or labels from the Software Package.

3.2　Licensee agrees not to use the Software Package (or any portion thereof) for Commercial Use or incorporation into any commercial product, whether software or hardware, whether released under a commercial or open source license, in whole or in part, or for any other use except as permitted in Section 2, without a license from Duke.

3.3　Licensee hereby agrees that it will provide a copy of all Derivatives to Licensor and that use of the Derivatives will be subject to all of the same terms, conditions, restrictions and limitations imposed on the Software Package under this Agreement.　Licensee acknowledges that any Derivatives or software programs created based on the Software will be considered a derivative of the Software and owned by Duke.

3.4　Nothing in this Agreement limits any rights under, or grants rights that supersede, the terms of any applicable Open Source License(s) that may govern portions of the Software. Licensee shall not subject the Software and/or any Derivatives, in whole or in part, to any new Open Source License obligations by combining or linking the Software, Derivatives, and/or any user documentation with any new Open Source Software if the terms of such Open Source License(s) are incompatible with the terms of this Agreement and any existing Open Source License(s) already applicable to portions of the Software or Derivatives. As between the parties, Licensee hereby irrevocably assumes all responsibility in relation to compliance with the provisions of this Paragraph, and hereby releases Licensor from any obligations, responsibilities, compliance or liabilities in relation to the any of the foregoing.

3.5   The Software may also contain or require certain third party software for the use or operation of the Software ("Dependencies"). Licensor does not grant the Licensee any rights in or to such Dependencies under this Agreement. Licensee is, as between the parties, solely responsible for the acquisition, installation, and use of the Dependencies, and hereby irrevocably and unconditionally releases Licensor from all responsibilities, obligations, compliance and liabilities in relation to the foregoing.

3.6   This Agreement confers no rights upon Licensee except those expressly granted herein. Licensee agrees that any person using or accessing the Software Package shall be advised of, and subject to, the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

4. SOFTWARE PROTECTION

4.1   Confidentiality. The Software Package is the confidential and proprietary information of Licensor. Licensee agrees to take all reasonable steps to protect the Software and Documentation from unauthorized disclosure, licensing or use. Licensee agrees that it will not disclose or transfer the Software Package to any third party.

4.2   Protection. For portions of the Software Package in object code or otherwise distributed without the underlying source code, Licensee agrees not to reverse engineer, reverse assemble, reverse compile decompile, disassemble, or otherwise attempt to re-create the source code for the Software.

4.3   Proprietary Notices. Licensee shall maintain and place on any copy of Software or Documentation that it reproduces for internal use all notices as are authorized and/or required hereunder. Licensee shall include a copy of this Agreement and the following notice, on each copy of the Software and Documentation. Such license and notice shall be embedded in each copy of the Software Package, in the video screen display, on the physical medium embodying the Software Package and on any Documentation:

THE FOREGOING EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS WILL APPLY TO ALL CLAIMS AND ACTIONS OF ANY KIND, WHETHER BASED ON CONTRACT, TORT (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, NEGLIGENCE), OR ANY OTHER GROUNDS.

6. INDEMNIFICATION.

6.1   Licensee shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless Licensor, Duke University, its affiliates, their trustees and directors, and their officers, agents, employees and students from and against any claims, demands, or causes of action whatsoever caused by, or arising out of, or resulting from, the exercise or practice of the license granted hereunder by Licensee, its officers, employees, agents or representatives.

7. TERMINATION.

7.1   This Agreement may be terminated by either party upon thirty (30) days written notice to the other party. If Licensee breaches this Agreement, this Agreement and Licensee's right to use the Software Package will terminate immediately without notice. Upon termination of this Agreement, Licensee shall destroy or return immediately the Software and all copies of the Software Package to Duke.

8. GOVERNING LAW; JURISDICTION AND VENUE.

8.1   The validity, interpretation, construction and performance of this Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of North Carolina. The state and federal courts of Durham County, North Carolina shall have exclusive jurisdiction and venue over any dispute arising out of this Agreement, and Licensee consents to the jurisdiction of such courts. Application of the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods is expressly excluded.

9. EXPORT CONTROLS.

9.1   This license is subject to all applicable export restrictions. Licensee must comply with all export and import laws and restrictions and regulations of any United States or foreign agency or authority relating to the Software and its use.

10. MISCELLANEOUS

10.1   If any provision hereof shall be held illegal, invalid or unenforceable, in whole or in part, such provision shall be modified to the minimum extent necessary to make it legal, valid and enforceable, and the legality, validity and enforceability of all other provisions of this Agreement shall not be affected thereby.

10.2   Licensee may not assign this Agreement in whole or in part, without Licensor's prior written consent. Any attempt to assign this Agreement without such consent will be null and void. This Agreement is the complete and exclusive statement between Licensee and Licensor relating to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior oral and written and all contemporaneous oral negotiations, commitments and understandings of the parties, if any. Any modification of this Agreement must be made in writing and signed by authorized representatives of both Parties. Any waiver by either party of any default or breach hereunder shall not constitute a waiver of any provision of this Agreement or of any subsequent default or breach of the same or a different kind.
